

Part 3

Introduction

(Hook): Hook your audience's attention with a catchy introductory sentence about your topic. (Thesis Statement) _____ was (were) important to the history of _____ (place/ society/ culture) because _____. (Blueprint) Explain what you are going to include in this part of your report. (What are your four main ideas (questions) you will be explaining)

Write Question One Here

The answers to question one from your research go here

Write Question Two Here

The answers to question two from your research go here

Write Question Three Here

The answers to question three from your research go here

Write Question Four Here

The answers to question four from your research go here

Conclusion

Why is your topic important or what is the big idea of your topic? This should sound very similar to your thesis statement in your introduction.

Part 4

Paragraph 1: How well did you pay attention to instructions given in class/library? When you were stuck and could not find an answer or resource, did you ask for help? Why or why not? What work did you do during class time, and what did you do outside of class?

Body Paragraphs:

Journal entries from the back of your note taking sheets

Conclusion Paragraph: How would you rate your research skills on a scale of one to ten? How well did you manage your time during the process? Did you type your paper in small parts as you went along or did you wait and do all of the typing during the last few days? If you were to begin your research again today, what would you do differently and why? By participating in this project, what did you learn about doing research?